Recent Changes in the Art Department Welcome Back

Summer officially ends this weekend and with it brings trips to orchards, shifting to sweatshirts and sweaters and the ever increasing need to bury your nose in a book. Welcome back to Autumn in Michigan .

This year the Department of Art and Art History welcomes many new faces to it's halls including a new chair, Dr. Christiane L. Joost-Gaugier , a new graphic design professor, Danielle Aubert and a new graphic design/electronic arts professor, Christobal Mendoza. They will soon be finding that the slide to winter can be quite quick.

Dr. Joost-Gaugier, a distinguished art historian and Renaissance scholar, has returned to academe after a period of research and publishing. She has held faculty appointments from Tufts University , New Mexico State University, University of New Mexico and taught while an independent scholar in Washington D.C. at George Washington University , Georgetown University and the University of Maryland , College Park .

Arts in the Legislature Bethany Patterson represent Wayne State

For the last four years, Wayne State University has participated in Arts in the Legislature, a collaborative program with the President's Council, State Universities of Michigan , the Michigan State Senate and the Michigan State House of Representatives.

This year the works of WSU Painting student, Bethany Patterson, will represent the Department of Art and Art History in the halls of the Michigan State Government Buildings.

Watch for more information about the reception at the capital.
